Withholding Funds Called a Failure

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A federal official says the U.S. Office of Education considers it a failure, not a victory, when federal funds are withheld from a school district which fails to comply with desegregation guidelines.

John Hope II of Washington, area director of the office's equal educational opportunities program, said new desegregation guidelines are "the product of our clear obligation under the law."

Hope spoke Saturday at a conference sponsored by the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights.

The guidelines included a call for a further student desegregation, substantial progress toward faculty desegregation and the closing of small, inadequate Negro schools.

Happenings in World on Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The political situation in South Viet Nam grew more tense over the weekend.

A powerful Buddhist leader in Saigon, Thich Thien Minh, said there would be strong protests if the central government delays national assembly elections next fall.

The developments were spurred by a statement by Premier Nguyen Cao Ky that his military regime would remain in office for at least another year. Buddhists have demanded a quick end to military rule and a return to civilian government.

Ky's regime moved to stifle any political agitation that might come from the pledge to stay in power.

There was evidence that U.S. officials in Saigon were bracing for more trouble following Ky's statement.

President Johnson, at his Texas ranch, proposed that the United States, the Soviet Union, and other space powers join in a treaty outlawing military activity on the moon. The pact also would deny any nation lunar sovereignty.

Johnson said the objective is to make sure that astronauts from all nations can conduct scientific investigations freely on the moon.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey has told associates he regards as excellent a proposal by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., for creation of a high-level commission to reassess U.S. relations with Red China. Kennedy's proposal has been seconded by Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D.

Other weekend developments: The President picked a new director of the Tennessee Valley Administration Sunday. He is Donald Orie McBride, 63, a native of Cowles, Neb., who has been living in Oklahoma City, Okla.

Gov. John B. Connally of Texas, long-time friend of President Johnson, easily won Democratic renomination for a third two-year term.

The Office of Education in Washington said 255 school districts have ignored requests to pledge compliance with civil rights laws in order to qualify for new federal aid. The office said the districts are regarded as out of compliance.

The Johnson administration, acting in the face of declining hog prices and considerable farm belt criticism, rescinded an order curtailing pork-buying by the Armed Forces.

Walter S. Gifford, former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and retired president of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., died Saturday. He was 81.

Four May Not Get Names on Ballot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Thursday that four state legislative candidates may not get their names on the ballot because they filed only in their counties, and not in his office.

Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett said in a recent opinion concerning reapportionment that candidates for the legislature must file in their counties and with the secretary of state.

The four are Roger Mears of Little Rock, a candidate for the 22nd House District; Harold Hollman of Ben Lomond, 30th House District; Joe Lee Warren of Eudora, 44th House District and Doyle McBridge of Lake Village, 22nd Senate District.

Really Had Tiger Under the Hood

CLAWSON, Mich. (AP) — "Officer," said the caller, "I got a tiger under the hood of my car."

It was a live ocelot under the hood of Bruce Crandall's car, nuzzling the manifold.

Sgt. Donald Smith and Officer Fred McIntyre extracted the animal with a dog warden's pole and loop.

William Vigus of Rochester claimed the 2-year-old beast, a pet named Ocie. He said the animal with a dog warden's pole Nicaragua, had run off March 30.

A tropical animal, Ocie often crawled under car hoods for warmth, Vigus told police in this Detroit suburb.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — "Americans today are exposed in one year to more good comedy, superior writing, more vaudeville routines than another generation saw in a lifetime," said producer George Schlatter.

"Audiences know when a show is slow, whether it is derivative, if it is a spoof or a put-on. Think of the people who have seen the Bolshoi Ballet, experienced opera, have their choice every night of comedy or drama.

"Think of the numbers of hours of entertainment, education, culture and comedy available. I say that even 15 years ago nobody could conceive of an industry that could turn out this enormous quantity of material—and do it easily and generally speaking, well."

Schlatter, who has had a hand in developing many a variety series, including a couple that failed to fulfill their promise, is a passionate defender of television.

"I say that the television audiences are spoiled rotten," he said. The free-lance producer recently taped an NBC special saluting winners of Grammy Awards, given by the record business' Academy. It will be broadcast May 16, with singing stars repeating award-winning performances and other celebrities introducing them.

This is a one-shot program of a very special nature—a program planned around preselected personalities and well-known music.

"The day of the pure 'personality special' seems to me to be running out," Schlatter said, "and I think we will have to come back to a special program that, in itself and conception, is the big event."

Schlatter may be prejudiced, having been involved with two programs, both starring personalities, that failed to pan out. He was the original producer of the Judy Garland series, and this season he was involved with the short-lived "Steve Lawrence Show."

"The Lawrence show failed because he was, in a sense, a new performer who needed time to develop as himself, as a personality," said Schlatter. "A guy may have been around for some time, doing a variety of things, but when he comes on as himself, it takes time before the audiences begin to feel that they know him."

Spotlight Is Focused on Fgn. Affairs

By WILBUR MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Viet Nam has turned the congressional spotlight on the nation's foreign affairs more brightly than at any time in years. Caught in the glare are the chairmen of the House and Senate committees from which the administration must seek support—and money—for its diplomatic aims.

Millions of Americans have come to recognize Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, through televised hearings.

Far fewer would recognize Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

Senate rules permit televising hearings, at the chairman's discretion. House rules are rigid: no television.

But if, say, a man from Minneapolis won't recognize Morgan, professionals in the diplomatic business are quick to salute him. They seem to like the almost surgical, precise manner in which he gets rid of excess wordage on any issue.

As a matter of fact, he is a practicing physician and surgeon as well as a 22-year member of Congress. Direct in manner, Morgan is big and hefty and 59 years old.

But he moves down the long House corridors like a hospital intern answering an emergency call.

He talks easily and pointedly about the work of his committee.

"They do a whale of a lot of work," he says. Morgan's own work came in for praise at a testimonial dinner April 20, at which 300 admirers paid $100 a plate to take part. President Johnson dropped in and added his own tribute: "I depend greatly on his ability."

House Chairman Morgan and Senate Chairman Fulbright differ sharply in their beliefs on foreign aid.

The Arkansas senator has long advocated separation of military and economic aid, and has also called for a long-term, multiyear appropriation.

"I'm flatly opposed," Morgan says, "to separating economic and military aid, and there's not a chance my committee will pass a five-year authorization. Maybe, just maybe, two years."

Also, Fulbright strongly supports channeling U.S. foreign aid through international agencies, whereas Morgan says that "we'd lose control of every U.S. dollar if we put aid through an international agency."

Pledges River Development

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP) — State Rep. David H. Pryor pledged Thursday night to work for river development if he is elected 4th District congressman.

Pryor, a Democrat, said that if funds could be obtained for the proper development of such rivers as the Saline, Ouachita and Red rivers, "we could form an interlocking network of river transportation with vast industrial and commercial potential."

He addressed a meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Opening Was Spectacular

CANNES, France (AP) — It wasn't just another night on the Riviera Thursday night but the opening of the 20th Cannes Film Festival.

The feature attraction was a Polish picture called "The Ashes" and Italian actress Sophia Loren.

Miss Loren, who is president of the festival jury, which announces prizes May 20, showed up with a towering hairdo and a spectacular emerald necklace. Her husband, film director Carlo Ponti, accompanied her.

Other stars at the festival included Kirk Douglas, Glen Ford, Leslie Caron and Peter Ustinov.

TV Films Got Too Hot to Show

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — Dozens of Australia's most popular television programs went up in smoke today in a fire that swept through a Sydney building used as a clearing house for foreign films and tapes.

The 10,000 reels were insured for $2.2 million.

Meter Maids Not Bad to Look at

NEW YORK (AP) — New Yorkers may not like what their meter maids do but looking at them may be something else.

Thirty-two maids went stalking the streets Thursday in new Dior-styled navy blue hats shaped like helmets.

The city's traffic summonses will still run as high as $15.

They Released Wrong Scott

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — When the jailer called "Scott!" Daniel Ray Scott answered, signed out and disappeared. Minutes later, police realized they had meant to release Ralph Scott.

That was Tuesday and they still are looking for Daniel.

Ralph was cleared of charges and freed. Daniel is accused of forgery.

Another Barrier for Women Has Fallen

NEW YORK (AP) — Another barrier for women has fallen.

The New York Chamber of Commerce broke a 196-year-old tradition Thursday and elected its first woman member.

She is Mrs. McCrann Platz, who succeeded her late husband, Theodore, as president of the Bessemer Steel Corp. in 1964.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Wants The Glory, No Responsibility

Dear Helen: I was 21 when I married my husband and took on the raising of his three children, ages seven, nine and ten. Their mother had deserted them five years before and he had heard nothing from her since, not even a birthday card for the kids. My heart went out to them—they were starved for mother's love. I put my whole heart into raising them and loved them dearly. After two and one-half years, their mother pops into the picture. She said she wanted to finish raising them, and we agreed to let her have them back, though it broke our heart. She had the children exactly a year and kicked them out. When we got them back, we could see they were terribly hurt by all this. They all said they don't care about their real mother and never want to see her again.

But now when she has no responsibility, she wants to claim credit. She insists on having them on school holidays, Christmas, short vacations (just when we want them most). She plans to send them gifts, cards and letters. What she wants is for us to raise her children while she gets the credit of being called "mother." I say she is no true mother, as my husband has legal custody. Each time the kids hear from her it stirs up hurtful memories. Must we put up with this? — Trying To Be A Good Mother

Dear Trying: If the divorce decree grants visiting privilege up with this—only a lawyer can tell you for sure, and I strongly advise that you consult one. Perhaps you are worrying needlessly. Past history indicates this "mother" rarely feels a twinge of motherly love. I doubt that she will change, and so you can expect a few cards and gifts, fewer invitations, then silence. Honest now, you have a fine husband, and his three loving children. Must you waste time being jealous of a woman who lost them all through her own stupidity? — H.

Dear Helen: Can you tell me if there is anything on the market that discourages hair growth? — Moustache Minnie DearMinnie: Removal by an electric needle is expensive and often not 100 percent satisfactory. I'd recommend a good depilatory or one of those facial snapper kits which you can get in almost any variety store. These don't discourage hair growth, but they eliminate the hair temporarily, and will not harm your skin if you follow directions.

Also, check it out with your doctor. — H.

Dear Helen: Our daughter is getting very serious about a man who, we hear, has been married three times, and each time it was a shotgun wedding, with a quick divorce, just so the baby would have a "name." She says this is malicious gossip, but she won't let us ask him, nor will she mention it to him herself. We don't want her to be Number Four, with or without a shotgun. He's a sharpie, this one but she can't see past his ladies man looks. What can we do? — Mrs. T. P.

Dear Mrs. T: Track down the rumor, check the court house records, ask the fellow point blank about his past life; prospective in-laws have a right to know. If the store is true, your daughter should be convinced this "marry, marry gentleman" is not for her. Meanwhile, hope he has gotten gunshy! — H.

Giants Pull a Double Play at St. Louis

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants may have pulled off a unique double play at St. Louis, spoiling the Cardinals' farewell at Busch Stadium — and possibly the National League pennant race.

The Giants displayed their muscles in a 10-5 victory over the Cardinals Sunday, then unloaded some immediately after the game by trading slugger outfielder-first baseman Orlando Cepeda to St. Louis for left-hander Ray Sadecki.

Cepeda, who has a lifetime batting average of .308, undoubtedly will supply the Cardinals with more punch. He put on quite a show before changing uniforms, hitting a grand slam homer Saturday and driving in two runs with a pair of hits Sunday.

Sadecki, a 20-game winner for the Cardinals' pennant-winners in 1964, undoubtedly will supply the Giants with more pitching — the one ingredient they obviously feel is needed to pull away from the field in a bid for their first pennant since 1902.

The Giants already hold a 2½-game league lead and are working on an eight-game winning streak but there's no doubt Sadecki will be the perfect complement to the club's other starters, right-handers Juan Marichal, Bob Shaw and Bob Bolin.

So far, however, the Giants haven't needed much help. They've been getting most of it from the hitters. After a 15-run explosion Saturday, Willie McCovey, Jim Hart and Willie Mays hammered homers Sunday. Mays' was No. 513 of his career.

McCovey's was a three-run pinch-hit shot in the sixth inning that broke a 5-5 tie and sent the Cardinals down to defeat in their last game at Busch Stadium. The Cardinals move into their new $24 million park Thursday.

Elsewhere, Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 2-1, Pittsburgh nipped Philadelphia 3-2, Houston defeated Atlanta 5-4 and the New York Mets downed the Chicago Cubs 5-1 after losing the opener of a doubleheader 3-1.

In the American League, Baltimore clubbed Cleveland 8-2 and 8-3, Boston belted Minnesota 8-1 and 4-1, Detroit beat the Chicago White Sox 3-1 in 11 innings, the New York Yankees whipped California 5-2 and Washington took Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings.

Jim O'Toole checked the Dodgers on three hits in the seven innings he worked singled home what turned out to be the winning run for the Reds in the fourth inning and posted his first victory since Sept. 14. Tony Perez' sacrifice fly drove in the other Cincinnati run off Dodger starter Claude Osteen.

The Pirates snapped a 2-2 tie in the sixth inning on a walk to Willie Stargell and singles by Donn Clendenon and Bill Mazeroski. Bob Veale went all the way, scattering eight Phillies' hits. Veale also drove in a run with a single.

Run producing singles by Joe Torre and Lee Thomas gave the Braves a 4-3 lead in the eighth, but the Astros came back in the ninth with the aid of errors by Frank Bolling and Woody Woodward. Rusty Staub scored the tying run on Woodward's wild throw before Joe Morgan drove in the winner with a bases-loaded single.

The Cubs won the first game despite collecting only two hits. The first, a single by Glenn Beckert in the sixth innings off Jack Hamilton, drove in two runs — enough to win. Chris Krug's steal of home produced the other run.

Dennis Ribant stopped the Cubs on five hits in the rightcap while the Mets put it out of reach with a five-run third inning. Jim Hickman triggered the rally with a leadoff homer. Ed Bressoud tripled home another run and scored on Ken Boyer's single before Johnny Lewis capped the uprising with a two-run single.

Yanks Win 1st Two Games for Manager Houk

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Robinson, playing his first season in the American League, drove in the first run off Cleveland's Louis Tiant this year when he became the first player ever to hit a fair ball out of Baltimore's Memorial Stadium.

Boston's George Scott, playing his first season in the majors, became the first player in the majors to hit 10 home runs.

And Paul Casanova of Washington hit his first major league home run in the eighth inning for the first hit off Kansas City's Fred Talbot.

But in possibly the most significant first of Sunday's American League developments, the New York Yankees, playing under new Manager Ralph Houk, put together their first two-game winning streak this season by defeating California 5-2.

The victory was only the Yankees' sixth against 16 losses, but it pulled them out of the cellar and made them two-for-two since Houk replaced Johnny Keane as manager Saturday night.

In other American League games Baltimore swept Cleveland 8-2 and 8-3, Boston did the same to Minnesota 8-1 and 4-1, Washington edged Kansas City 3-2 in 10 innings and Detroit trimmed Chicago 3-1 in 11.

Their second game was postponed because of cold weather.

In the National League, San Francisco outslugged St. Louis 10-5, Pittsburgh edged Philadelphia 3-2, Houston nipped Atlanta 5-4, Cincinnati stopped Los Angeles 2-1, and New York defeated Chicago 5-1 after losing 3-1.

The Yankees scrambled to their second straight victory with the help of second inning errors by the Angels' Jack Warner and Jim Fregosi. The errors followed singles by Roger Maris and Cleto Boyer.

Robinson's mammoth home run, in the first inning of the second game, traveled 540 feet with a roll and drove in the first runs off Tiant, who went into the game with three shutouts in three starts this season. Tiant gave up five runs in all before leaving in the third.

Robinson also hit a homer in the first game as Jim Palmer stopped Cleveland on three hits. Curt Blefary and Boog Powell added homers for the Orioles. Powell also connected in the nightcap.

Scott's 10th homer, a two-run blast in the eighth, insured Boston's second-game victory. Dalton Jones' homer had snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh.

Rico Petrocelli drove in five runs with a grand slam homer and a single in the opener as the Red Sox halted a streak of 17 straight losses to Minnesota.

Talbot held Washington hitless for seven innings although he gave up a run in the first. Kansas City tied it in the eighth when Bert Campaneris tripled in a run and scored on Wayne Causey's sacrifice fly, but the Senators won it in the 10th on Bob Saverine's run scoring single.

A bases-loaded, two-run double by Gates Brown in the 11th gave Detroit its victory over Chicago. The game had been tied 1-1 since the third when Bill Frehan homered for the Tigers.

Kauai King, Derby Winner, to Preakness

By BOB COOPER
Associated Press Writer

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Trainer Henry Forrest has been too busy the past year to even visit his new Tennessee home and there's no let-up in sight. He was preparing today to ship Kauai King, the Kentucky Derby winner, east for the Preakness.

"I bought a little, six-acre place at Brentwood, near Nashville, more than a year ago, but I've spent only one night there since then," Forrest said.

Reminded that Kauai King's half-length Derby victory Saturday was his 230th at Churchill Downs, the 58-year-old native of Covington, Ky., reminisced over his 40 years in racing.

"I started out when I was 18 years old with a horse for J. B. Respass at the old Latonia track," Forrest said.

Apparently, that was a good omen. Respass' Wintergreen had won the Derby 16 years before that and, like Kauai King in Saturday's 92nd running of the classic, led all the way.

Forrest, a winner with the first colt he ever saddled for the Derby, gave much of the credit to jockey Don Brumfield.

"He rode just wonderful," Forrest said. "I told him before the race there might be some horses in front of him at the start, but to use his own judgment."

"He did just that."

Almost as pleased as Forrest were some in the camp of Advocate, a surprise second finisher in America's most glamorous race. A groom, Albert Foley, proudly predicted the colt would become horse of the year.

Jim Padgett, trainer of third finisher Blue Skyer, said he "couldn't have been more tickled" with the race.

Padgett, who entered Blue Skyer after he was goaded into it, said he had planned to move from here to Chicago, but now "I guess we'll go in the Preakness. I'll have to talk to the owners to be sure, though."

With exception of Fleet Shoe, all of the colts from the Derby were pronounced in good health. Trainer Larry Sterling said Fleet Shoe was "a little touchy in the left knee."

Both Fleet Shoe and Abe's Hope, the second choice in the betting and fifth colt under the finish wire, may get some rest from the racing wars. The others will continue training for summer racing.

"We'll go to Sportsman's Park and may give him a little rest," trainer Del Carroll said of Abe's Hope. A groom noted the Better Bee colt has been in 10 races, including the Derby, this year and all but two were at more than a mile.

All of the first six finishers — Kauai King, Advocate, Blue Skyer, Stupendous, Abe's Hope and Rehabilitate — thought they had a top shot at the $120,500 first prize until the last.

The Mouth Predicts a Speed Fight

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Cassius Clay flew off to London predicting a speed fight with Henry Cooper and already looking beyond the Cockney veteran to his next opponent.

"I'm gonna be about 203 pounds for Cooper, that's about 11 under what I was when I beat George Chuvalo," the world heavyweight champion from Kentucky said before taking off for England.

"This is gonna be a speed fight. I gotta be fast. That man can get in and punch fast. And I might be in trouble if he tagged me."

Clay, who will defend his title against Cooper May 21 at Highbury Stadium in London, knows what it is to be tagged by the British champion. He stopped Cooper in 1963 but not before being knocked down.

"He really hurt me, with a long left hook," Clay admitted. "They say I was looking at Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor when he hit me, but that's not so."

"I just didn't see the punch coming."

"Now, let me tell you about my new campaign. Hey, Angie, you listening?" he yelled to his manager, Angela Dundee.

"The man I fight after Cooper is any ranking heavyweight who can whip James Ellis, my sparring partner. Any heavyweight that whips James Ellis will qualify to fight me."

Dundee, scarcely mollified at anything Clay says or does after his long association with the colorful fighter, allowed as how it sounded like a good idea.

After 24 Dundee also manages Ellis.

Keane Kind to Man Who Fired Him

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Keane came in a gentleman and it went out the same way — with kind words for the New York Yankees, who fired him Saturday as manager.

Keane arrived in New York late Sunday afternoon from Los Angeles and met his wife, Lela, who had flown up from their Houston home. He didn't even know the Yankees had won their second straight under Ralph Houk until a reporter told him.

"If they can get them hitting," said Keane, "that is all there will be to it. The pitching wasn't bad, but we just were not hitting."

"I left the Yankees with all good feelings. It has been a privilege to have worked for them. It is their right to make a change when they see fit. My wife and I really enjoyed New York. Contrary to talk about the big, cold city, we found it a very warm experience."

Houston Stay Was a Bust for Golfers

HOUSTON (AP) — The PGA golf tour rolls on to New Orleans today with the players showing nothing for their stay in Houston — the $110,000 Houston Champions International Tournament was canceled Sunday because of rain, after only one round.

Not just one rain but many, but it was a little shower Sunday morning that proved the coup de grace.

Anyway, the tournament was wiped out with nobody getting paid and the Houston Golf Association losing about $25,000. It was rescheduled for Nov. 17-20 and all the players, including the big names like Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, said they would be here.

It was the first time for a PGA tournament to be canceled after a round was played — at least in the recollection of PGA officials and records of Doc Giffin, field press secretary. "It is the first time in modern golf at least," said Giffin.

It had rained for seven days although not much Saturday when the first round finally was played with Jack Rule Jr. taking the lead with a three-under-par 68 over the long, exacting 7,160-yard champions course.

Lights Fire Under Auto Industry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ralph Nader, one of the greatest pains in the neck the automobile industry ever encountered, has put in years analyzing the problem of safety in American cars but not much time analyzing himself.

As few ever have, this tall, gangling, unmarried, 32-year-old lawyer has helped light a fire under Congress and the automakers with his criticism of the latter and his crusade for safer cars.

He has done it with his book, "Unsafe At Any Speed," which hasn't made him a fortune, and his statements before Congress and groups anxious to hear his attacks.

This year Congress may pass a law laying down federal safety standards and requirements such as have never been imposed on the industry. The automakers finally thought this might be worthwhile although a few weeks before they didn't.

Nader is not only not a mechanic, he doesn't own a car. He has gathered his information from various sources, like studies and engineering reports. He often goes sleepless to do research and prepare his next day's statements.

The night before also, getting ready to appear before a congressional committee Wednesday he didn't sleep at all. And when he arrived he had such a bundle of material he needed both arms to carry it.

Nader, a graduate of Princeton and Harvard Law School, gave up a law practice to devote himself full time to this cause. Why? What makes him tick? What's the motivation behind this use of his life for this crusade?

Ask him, and he's a little blank. He relishes the question. He grins and rubs his head and makes a hasty expedition back through his life to childhood in search of the answer. He can't be sure. He can only guess.

And his guess is vague. He thinks his parents, Lebanese with a restaurant in Winsted, Conn., were an influence but he can't say how. He knows he always felt people should do good for one another.

He called it public service. It didn't involve making money. For some reason, trying to explain, he thought of the dignity of man and the time he was four years old in the Eastern Orthodox Church his family attended.

He was in line with a lot of other boys, waiting to go up and kiss the bishop's hand, and he didn't want to, because he thought it was an indignity to him. Beyond that he seemed at a loss for his motivation about safe cars.

Except for this: He said "I have been interested in auto safety ever since my school days when I saw too much blood on the highway." The auto industry's reaction to him hasn't been exactly warm.

Henry Ford II, head of the Ford Motor Co., said that if Nader was a good engineer he could have a job at Ford but "Frankly, I don't think he knows very much about automobiles."

Nader had traveled a lot overseas, writing about problems he saw, and then came home to concentrate on automobiles, believing, he said, he couldn't solve foreign problems but might help solve some at home.

McMillan Was Once a Democrat

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—One week after Gus A. McMillan's entry into the Republican gubernatorial race, Winthrop Rockefeller's official reaction to his opponent is:

"Who is he?"

"He's a one-time Democrat from Sheridan," Rockefeller was told.

"I still ask, 'Who is he?'" Rockefeller replied.

He indicated by some off the record remarks that he intended to find out.

Rockefeller said that what he does about McMillan depends on what McMillan does.

But nothing McMillan does, Rockefeller said, will effect a major change in Rockefeller's campaign strategy.

"I'm not running against anyone," Rockefeller said. "I'm running for my program for a better Arkansas."

He had said earlier, when he did not expect Republican opposition, that he would accept the positive in his campaign against the Democratic nominee.

Rockefeller, contacted by telephone at Winrock Farm, said he did not want to make an assessment of the eight-man Democratic field at this time.

"But it should be a very interesting summer," he said.

McMillan ran for governor on the Democratic ticket in 1954, finishing fourth in a four-man field.

He filed as the third candidate in the 1954 race and some veteran politicians said he got in the race to make sure that Gov. Francis Cherry did not have to meet his main opponent, state Sen. Guy Jones, in way race without McMillan's second primary.

It would have been a three-way race without McMillan because Orval Faubus filed just before the deadline and forced Cherry into a runoff.

McMillan claims he threw his support to Faubus in the runoff and assured his victory over Cherry.

Some Republicans expressed dismay at McMillan's entering joining their party and forcing a statewide primary. John Paul Hammerschmidt, the GOP state chairman, said his party welcomed any serious candidate but raised doubts about whether McMillan should be taken seriously.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — After a three-year absence, Dezi Arnez is back at work in the studio that bears his name. But there's a difference.

Whereas the onetime bongo drum-pounder once ruled the Desilu empire, he is now a renter of space at Desilu Culver studio. He occupies the suite which David O. Selznick used until his death last year. In honor of Desi's return, the place has been redecorated from "Gone With The Wind" decadent to California casual.

The lady who ordered the redecoration is Lucille Ball, Desi's former wife and costar, and his successor as president of Desilu.

"The prettiest landlady in the world," he said. "And a wonderful woman."

Their connection now is purely as landlady and lessor, since Desi sold Lucille all his Desilu stock when he stepped out of the business three years ago.

Why did he leave?
"For a number of reasons," he said. "I found that I was working terribly hard, mostly in things that I wasn't particularly interested in. I was stuck with the managerial end of running three studios with 3,000 employees. That wasn't what I got into the business for."

"I enjoyed the creative end—getting together with some writers on an idea, following through with scripts, casting the project and bringing forth the final product. But I found myself tied up with a factory operation."

And so he quit. His marriage to Lucille had already come to an end. He sold out to her and later married Mrs. Edith Hirsch. He looked after his horse breeding farm at Corona, Calif., which he terms a $2 million enterprise. He raced his horses, kept an eye on his Indian Wells resort at Palm Desert, played golf and fished.

Then he got interested in a book, "With Our Consent," and contracted for a movie script. CBS boss William Paley heard about it and asked if Desi would be interested in a return to TV.

"I've got nothin' against TV," Desi replied. "But I'm not interested in taking over the 20th Century-Fox television department, or MGM's or Screen Gems." If I can operate my own way, without getting involved with executive matters, then I'm interested.

So was Paley, and he made a deal with Desi to develop projects for CBS. Desi went to work and now he has three or four comedy series in various stages of development, plus a special to star Cantinflas.

Conway Voters Hike Millage

CONWAY, Ark. (AP)—Voters passed two proposed one-mill tax increases here Tuesday. The increases, effective Jan. 1, 1967, will pay for a firm's pension fund and a non-uniform employees pension fund.

Shoenfeld Joins Research Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Rep. Nathan Shoenfeld of Garland County, who announced last month that he would not seek re-election because of ill health, has been named executive director of the Election Research Council, Inc.

The council, formed in 1964, says it is a private non-partisan organization fighting for the sanctity of the ballot in Arkansas.

Russians Seek Aid of West for Cars

TURIN, Italy (AP) — Turning to the West for help in quadrupling its automobile production, the Soviet Union has signed an agreement for Italy's Fiat Motor Co. to build a $320-million plant to turn out 600,000 cars a year by 1970.

So close to the Soviet delegation said the plant would be built outside Jaroslav, on the Volga River, and would employ 20,000 workers.

The Soviets reportedly also want two or three additional plants for spare parts.

Invited Out

An uninvited Vietnamese invites the Rev. A. J. Muste, right, and his group of American pacifists to end an attempted press conference in Saigon and get out of South Viet Nam. Angry Vietnamese broke up the session, hurling rotten eggs and threatening the anti-war group. Pictured with the 81-year-old minister, chairman of the Committee for Non-Violent Action, is Bradford Lyttle, of Voluntown, Conn.

It is possible to play bridge using only the words: "Pass, double, redouble, no-trump, spades, hearts, diamonds and clubs" and the numbers one to seven.

This would make the game mighty boring but too much conversation is even more deadly. Furthermore, when a man talks instead of thinking he does not help his cause. Silence is both golden and profitable.

South rose with dummy's queen of spades only to see East cover with the king.

"One finesse wrong," said South. "I will probably be unlucky enough to lose the other two that I am faced with."

Then South covered with his ace of spades, led a club to dummy's king, played the seven of hearts from dummy and the six from his own hand after East produced the three.

Meanwhile, West had been listening and thinking. One finesse was obviously for the queen of hearts. That was wrong. The other finesse was surely for the king or queen of diamonds and West knew that one would work. How could he, West, keep South from taking that diamond finesse?

West solved his problem quickly. He won that heart trick with his ace. Then he cashed a spade and led a second club. South, back in dummy, played the nine of hearts. The heart finesse had worked once. It would surely work the second time.

It didn't. West produced the queen and got off lead with a club. South had no way to return to dummy, and had to concede a diamond trick for down one.

Says Beatles Merely a Passing Fad

NEW YORK (AP) — The Beatles all will get crew-cuts within the next five years and their squealing teen-age admirers will swap Army jackets and jeans for dresses, a leading psychiatrist predicted today.

"It's all a passing fad," said Dr. Wladimir G. Eliasberg of New York, former president of the American Society of Psychoanalytic Physicians.

"I see no deep-rooted behavior disorders in the present tendency of girls to look like boys and boys to look like girls. It's not psychiatric. It's not biological. It's not neurotic.

"It can be traced directly to social factors. It is rebellion against the parents and against society."

Eliasberg, 78, German-born,

European-educated, well-known author and lecturer, said in an interview that he did not subscribe to the alarm expressed in some quarters that humanity is drifting toward a "uni-sex."

Some boys are going in for shoulder-length hair, lip o mades, false eyelashes and sweet-smelling perfumes. Girls are affecting the Sassoon male hair-cuts, workmen's boots, heavy belts and apparel bought from the Army-Navy store.

"Just a wave," sighed the lean-faced, graying psychiatrist. "In my 78 years, I have seen many waves. They come and go."

Eliasberg blamed the girls for turning their boy friends into perfumed counterparts.

"Girls, teen-agers especially, abhor cave-man types," he said. "They no longer want to be dominated. They want boy companions who are subordinate to them in strength, who are sensitive and who talk a lot. They don't want masters. They want equals, or less."

Ruling Leaves Ouachita Dry

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)— Anti-liquor forces in Ouachita County filed notice of appeal to the state Supreme Court over a local option liquor election Thursday, keeping the country dry for as many as 60 days.

County Judge Melvin Mayfield dismissed a challenge in the latest local option election, won by wets, and dry forces had until 5 p.m. Thursday to appeal.

The notice of appeal was filed in Ouachita County Circuit Court shortly before the deadline.

Oliver Wendell Holmes was the author of the phrase: "Taxes are what we pay for civilized society."

Cruelty to Animals

To brighten up a dull afternoon, two men tied an oil can to a dog's tail and set the oil on fire. At the time it seemed hilarious. But the men did not laugh when they were hauled into court and found guilty of cruelty to animals.

Few of us today would quarrel with the court's ruling. Yet, until comparatively recent years, cruelty to animals was not a crime at all. The common law did protect the property rights of an animal's owner, but did not protect the animal itself. Thus:

Suppose A abused B's horse, B, having suffered an injury to his property, could collect damages from A. But suppose B abused his own horse. Or suppose the horse was a stray, with no owner to be concerned. Then the law kept silent. Nothing stayed the brutal hand.

But if the common law did not condemn, common decency finally did. In a striking shift of public opinion, cruelty to animals—in itself—has now been branded everywhere as a crime.

Economics has nothing to do with it. When a man was fined for turning an old horse out to starve, the court spoke not of the dollar value of the horse but of the moral outrage to one of God's creatures.

True, we may still inflict harm on an animal for an honorable reason. Thus we may kill an animal—humanely—for food.

"Otherwise," a judge noted, "one could not slaughter a pig or ox for the market, and man could eat no more meat."

Furthermore, we may hit an animal in self defense. A man who struck a frenzied cat, which had a death grip on his hand, was held to have acted within the law.

Also we may chastise an animal as a matter of training—or perform surgery on it as a matter of health. Nor are cruelty laws carried to unreasonable extremes. Surely it is no crime to swat a fly or bait a hook with a worm.

What the law does denounce is conduct that affronts the modern conscience. One court put it this way:

"Animals whose lives are devoted to our use and pleasure deserve kindly treatment. The dominion of man over them is not a moral trust, but a better significance than the development of malignant passions and cruel instincts. Human beings should be kind and just to dumb brutes if for no other reason than to learn how to be kind and just to each other."

5 Kentucky State Men Were Enough

By MARSHALL JOHNSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
QUANTICO, Va. (AP) — Track coach William Exum of Kentucky State College brought just five runners to compete in three events in the 10th annual Quantico Relays. Five were enough.

"I don't know whether they're too tired to have another good race in them or not," said Exum just before the invitational mile relay that was the last of the 27 events on the final program Saturday.

Exum, who succeeded the legendary Sam Taylor after his death April 1, needn't have worried. With Jim Kemp, the NCAA 440-yard champion, running a 45.9 second anchor leg, Kentucky State flashed to victory in 3:10.2. It was Kentucky State's third triumph, the first in which they didn't set a meet record.

With Kemp, named the meet's top performer, as anchor man, Kentucky State earlier had set marks of 3:21.1 in the spring medley relay and 1:24.3 in the 880-yard relay. Kemp's compatriots on both record-breaking teams were Marshall Glover, Bob Bailey and Clarence Ray.

What's more, Kentucky State has a lot to look forward to. Only Glover of the two record quartets is a senior. The other three—plus Vernell Turner, who replaced Bailey in the mile relay—are juniors.

Kentucky State was pushed for top honors Saturday by North Carolina College and its Olympic star from Trinidad, Ed Roberts.

The Eagles, with Roberts just reinstated last week after some difficulties, set a meet record of 41.1 in the 440-yard relay, and Roberts retained his 100-yard dash title in 9.2, also a meet mark. But a faulty baton pass knocked them out of contention in the 880 relay.

Other meet records were set Saturday by Pat Pomphrey of Tennessee, 13.7 seconds in the 120-yard high hurdles; Mike Manley of the Quantico Marines, 8:52.6 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and William Skinner of the Delaware Track and Field Club, 248 feet in the javelin.

That made it 11 records for the two-day meet.

Didn't Seek Crime in the Right Place

SABATTUS, Maine (AP) — Police Chief Lester Dobbins wasn't looking for crime in the right place recently.

One morning after he went to work, burglars stole six chairs, a wood ice chest and tools from his barn.

Robinson Lashes at Club Owners

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jackie Robinson says it may be years before the major leagues have a Negro manager because club owners generally are "narrow minded and have no guts."

"I know of only one owner who might have the courage to do it, and that's Horace Stenham of the Giants," the man who broke baseball's color line said today.

Gabe Paul of Cleveland, I believe, would give it some thought. But the others? They're a narrow minded group. They don't understand the thinking of the majority.

"Baseball is far behind the rest of the country in tackling issues like this."

Robinson praised Red Auerbach in naming Bill Russell, a Negro, to succeed Auerbach as coach of the Boston Celtics in the National Basketball Association.

"Auerbach didn't procrastinate — he just went ahead and did it," the one-time Dodger star said. "The fans don't care whether a man's black or white. All they want is somebody who can get the job done."

Robinson said the general public would take the same attitude in baseball.

Robinson said he thought there were several Negroes capable of making creditable major league managers.

"Elston Howard of the Yankees looks like a natural," he said. "Bill White of Philadelphia might be great. I have great admiration for Ernie Banks and Wes Covington of the Cubs. Bill Bruton probably would have made a fine manager."

How about Robinson himself, the aide to Gov. Rockefeller of New York and new general manager of the Brooklyn team in the Continental Football League?

"Near the end of my career, I had some feelers about managing Montreal," Jackie said. "but never the big leagues. They wouldn't want me. I talk too much. I'm not their type."

AM&N's Stinson Pulls Upset

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas AM&N's Elbert Stinson, upset Southern University Theron Lewis in the 440-yard dash Sunday as the Louisiana team took its second consecutive Southwestern Athletic Conference track title.

Stinson was locked in 46.3 and Lewis in 46.7.

Southern rolled up 92 points on six first places, seven seconds and five thirds.

Father Not Notified, Adoption Void

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court held today that an adoption carried through without notice to the father of the child is void.

The ruling came in a suit filed by the father, Boyd D. Olney, against Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Gordon of Fort Smith.

The Gordons adopted Olney's 9-day-old son on June 10, 1963, while they were living in Seminole, Okla. The child was born in a hospital in Hugoton, Kan., and Olney testified that he did not know of his birth until three weeks later after the adoption had been completed.

Olney and the former Betty England were married June 1, 1962, separated in November of the same year and divorced Feb. 15, 1963, at Liberal, Kan., with the mother charging extreme cruelty.

After he learned of the adoption, Olney had to file a suit against Herbert Hobbie, the Kansas attorney who handled the whereabouts of the Gordons, who had moved from Seminole to Irving, Tex., and then to Fort Smith.

Today's Supreme Court order reversed Chancellor Hugh Bland of Fort Smith. Bland, now a member of the Supreme Court, had not participated in the reversal decision.

Justice Ed McFaddin dissented. He said he agreed that the order of adoption was void, but that the court should consider the best interest of the child, which would be served by leaving custody with the Gordons.

Chief Justice Carlton Farris said in an opinion concurring with the majority that he had voted with reluctance to reverse the case because he was unable to conclude that the decision was in the best interest of the child.

Justice Guy Amsler, in another opinion with the majority, said he would reverse the case on technical grounds.

The Supreme Court affirmed a Cleburne Chancery Court ruling upholding a foreclosure sale on two 40-acre tracts of land sold by H. C. Murphree to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Herr.

The Herrs contended that the sale of the land should be voided because the location of one of the tracts was misrepresented.

The court affirmed a Columbia Circuit Court judgment of $1,500 to Mrs. Relma Burdine, who was discharged by the Southern Extension Co. in 1961 after the Magnolia Collection Agency Inc. filed a garnishment on her paycheck.

The garnishment was filed on a $72 debt owed to a doctor on a bill for Mrs. Burdine's husband. Mrs. Burdine contended in her suit that the garnishment was wrongly filed against her because the debt was not hers and she asked for damages of $10,000.

A jury awarded her $1,500 against the collection agency and its owner, Mrs. Colon P. Lewis.

Body Recovered From River

IUKA, Miss. (AP)—The body of John Herschel Watkins, 22, of Luxora, Ark., who disappeared a week ago while working on a dredge boat near here, was recovered from the Tennessee River Sunday.

Watkins, a night watchman on the dredge, disappeared May 1 after saying he was going from its deck to its kitchen. Relatives said it was believed he fell overboard.

Luna 10 Completes 284th Moon Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union's Luna-10 satellite completed its 284th orbit of the moon today and again transmitted the "Internationale" to earth, the Soviet news agency Tass reported.

The squeaky-voiced radio signal from the satellite played a recording of the Communist anthem April 4, one day after it went into orbit. It was piped into the Kremlin where 6,000 Russian and foreign delegates were attending the 23rd Soviet Communist party congress.

The suit, which is before federal District Judge Oren Harris, asks him to enjoin Brockman and other county judges from committing boys to the schools on a racial basis. It also asks the court to stop the boards from operating the schools on a segregated basis.

Asks Boys' School Desegregation

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A Lincoln County woman asked U.S. District Court Thursday to desegregate the state's training schools for boys at Pine Bluff and Wrightsville.

Mrs. Noma Mae George of Gould filed the suit for her son, Roy Lee Lewis, 13, who was sent to the Negro school at Wrightsville April 27 by County Judge E. G. Brockman of Lincoln County.

The suit, which is before federal District Judge Oren Harris, asks him to enjoin Brockman and other county judges from committing boys to the schools on a racial basis. It also asks the court to stop the boards from operating the schools on a segregated basis.

Bulletin

TOKYO (AP) — Communist China announced Tuesday it has detonated its third atomic device.

China exploded its first nuclear device Oct. 16, 1964, and its second May 14, 1965. The first was believed to have been set off atop a tower at a desert test center in Sinkiang Province, and the second was believed dropped from a plane.

Peking Radio, in a Chinese language broadcast monitored here, said the third took place at 4 p. m. Monday at a test site in western China.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk voiced assurance today there will be elections in Viet Nam this September. But Sen. J. W. Fulbright D-Ark., pictured Premier Nguyen Cao Ky as an "irresponsible man" who could hamper free elections.

LBJ Report Favors Massive Education Aid

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson sent Congress today an advisory council report endorsing massive federal aid to education, yet finding much to criticize about the first year of the administration's current billion-dollar program.

Johnson, in a letter transmitting the report, emphasized "progress which has been achieved" under the 1965 law assisting elementary and secondary education.

The 33-page report was prepared by the National Advisory Council on the Education of Disadvantaged Children — students handicapped by poverty or other social, economic or emotional ills. The council chairman is O. Meredith Wilson, president of the University of Minnesota.

High Speed Chase Ends in Tragedy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The high-speed chase ended, a police bullet in his chest, his head cradled in his pregnant wife's lap, Leonard Deadwyler's dying words were: "She's having a baby."

Authorities gave this account of Deadwyler's death Saturday night.

Deadwyler, 21, was driving his wife, Barbara, 25, to a hospital. With them was their son, Leonard Jr., 2 and Gamaliel Ferguson, 31, owner of the car.

Several police cars pursued Deadwyler at speeds up to 80 miles per hour before he eased off to a slow roll.

Deadwyler's car continued to inch forward as Officers J. M. Bova and K. E. Ross approached and ordered a complete stop.

The car continued to inch forward. Bova, pistol in hand, thrust his head, shoulders and arms through Deadwyler's open window to remove the ignition key.

The car suddenly lurched forward, knocking Bova off balance and causing his pistol to fire. The bullet struck Deadwyler in the chest.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at a nearby hospital. Hospital attendants said his wife was not in labor. Their son was turned over to juvenile authorities for care.

Rain Seen for Tonight in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain fell on Arkansas again today and the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted more for tonight but said clear to partly cloudy sky conditions would prevail again Tuesday.

Walnut Ridge and Fayetteville reported slight amounts of rain in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today and scattered showers were forecast for tonight, mainly in the southern portion.

The rains, first in the state since the late April showers flooded thousands of acres of lowlands, brought in cooler temperatures.

The bureau predicted minimum temperatures tonight ranging from 40 degrees in North Arkansas to the low 50s in South Arkansas. Maximum temperatures Tuesday will be mostly in the 60s, the bureau said.

Minimum temperatures overnight ranged from 46 degrees at Harris to 64 degrees at Pine Bluff.

Ark. Welfare Grants Issue Politically

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State welfare grants have become the grounds for one of the first verbal battles of the Democratic gubernatorial campaign, with two of the eight candidates warring over them during the weekend.

Promising a $50-a-month increase in the grants is a cruel political hoax, said Jim Johnson, commenting on a proposal made Friday by Brooks Hays to bring the payment from $75 a month to $125.

The goal is attainable, Hays retorted Sunday night, and offers hope to thousands of aged citizens struggling to live in comfort.

"Promises are cheap, but under the present law such a plan is financially prohibitive," said Johnson, who goes on statewide television Tuesday night to reveal his plans in the race for governor.

"I think it is possible to increase the grants by reasonable amounts through the proper utilization of state resources, but nothing like what Mr. Hays promises," he added.

China Set for Another Blast

TOKYO (AP) — Chief Cabinet Secretary Tomisaburo Hashimoto said Friday that information from specialists indicates that Communist China will explode its third nuclear device about May 10.

Hashimoto did not identify the specialists. He said the Japanese government was informed by the U.S. government at the end of April that Peking was preparing for another nuclear blast, possibly an experimental hydrogen bomb.

Seven Meet Death on State Roads

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A motorcycle slammed into a sedan at Little Rock, killing a young mother and critically injuring her husband and a car plunged into 30 feet of water in Lake Hamilton, taking the life of another woman.

They were among seven persons who died on Arkansas' highways during the 102-hour traffic fatality count of the Associated Press from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Sunday.

A third accident killed Raymond O. (Bud) Raley, 43, owner and manager of Radio Station KWNW at Wynne. He drowned when his car plunged into 20 feet of water after hitting a bridge west of Augusta on U.S. 64 Friday night.

Killed in the motorcycle crash Saturday was Mrs. Donna Willis, 25, of Little Rock. She was riding on the rear of the cycle, driven by her husband, Kenneth Willis, 28.

Mrs. Bonnie Buck, 32, of Arkadelphia drowned when the car she was riding in missed a curve at Point Lookout on Lake Hamilton, plunged down an embankment and into the water early Saturday morning.

Joseph B. Chambers, 55, of near Carlisle was killed Friday night when his pickup truck collided with a car at the intersection of Arkansas 13 and a rural road four miles north of Carlisle.

James Morris Grafton, 57, of near Bernice, La., died Saturday when his truck hit a bridge about 12 miles south of El Dorado.

James Clifford Kessinger, 47, of Hammond, La., was killed Saturday about 5.2 miles northwest of Mena on U.S. 59-270 when his car struck a Kansas City Southern train.

Jessie Abner, 63, of Joiner died Saturday of a heart attack after the car he was in was involved in an accident 18 miles north of West Memphis on Interstate 55.

Sees Golden Age Now for Journalists

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Keith Fuller, assistant general manager of the Associated Press, says this is the Golden Age of journalism and that more educated and more intelligent newsmen are required to cover the news today.

Fuller, substitution for AP General Manager Wes Gallagher, was the principal speaker Saturday at the annual spring meeting of the Arkansas Associated Press Association.

Fuller said most journalists refer to the 1930s when they speak of the Golden Age of the profession.

"Today's news makes the good old days sound pale," Fuller said. "Newspapers now cover every corner of the globe. The AP report reaches 900 million persons instantaneously."

Ky's Election Decision Is Under Attack

By ANDREW BOROWIEC

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky came under attack from within and outside the ruling junta today following his declaration that he expects to hang onto power at least another year.

Informants said some of Ky's fellow generals considered the statement likely to endanger the delicate political balance that has kept them in power despite Buddhist agitation. Ky was reported to have made the declaration without consulting them.

Government censors cut the statement from the Vietnamese language press in an effort to minimize the political repercussions. Nevertheless, it spread by word of mouth through Saigon.

Political groups threatened counteraction against the military government.

The strongest reaction was expected from Saigon's influential Buddhist leadership, which has demanded an early return to civilian government.

As the new storm erupted around him, Ky lapsed into silence. He ordered his chauffeur to drive on when newsmen converged on his car for an explanation of his intentions.

Damage Is Heavy in Area Accidents

Two accidents were investigated by City Police over the weekend, both resulting in considerable damage and charges were filed in both.

About mid-afternoon Sunday autos driven by Clarence Oliver Cole, Negro of Pine Bluff, and William Newt Mullins of Bodcaw, collided on Highway 4, just off the Highway 87 intersection.

City Officers Sinyard and Rowe said Mullins was attempting to pass and Cole made a left turn. Both cars ended up across the ditch and both were badly damaged.

Neither driver nor two women passengers in the Pine Bluff car were injured. Cole was charged with driving while intoxicated and Mullins was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way.

Early this morning an auto driven by Eldrin Malone, Dallas, Texas, when out of control on the Third and Shover Street curve. The car knocked over a sign at Patterson's Station, careened across the street and leveled a brick curb and sign at Town & Country and stopped as it hit the restaurant building.

City Officers Rown, Rowe, and Long said the building itself was not damaged.

Officers charged Malone with reckless driving.

The Kennedy-McGovern suggestions also brought these developments during the week-end: —Secretary of State Dean Rusk, who testifies before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today, described the commission proposal as "an intriguing idea." But Rusk said for more than a year the executive branch has had a very competent group making an intensive study of these matters. He did not further identify the group. "They have been in touch with experts outside; they have visited universities and they have searched the literature for possible new ideas," Rusk said on the ABC television-radio program "Issues and Answers."

He also said he has discussed recently with President Johnson "the desirability of systematizing outside advance in the general areas of the world." He added: "I think it is very likely that we shall do this somewhat more systematically than we have done before."

—Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was reported actively supporting the proposal to create a commission. Although he was silent about Johnson's reaction, Humphrey's endorsement was viewed as indicating a willingness by the administration to explore new avenues in Asian policies.

—Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., said Humphrey's support encourages him to believe such a policy review may materialize. "I certainly think we need to have a searching look at possible future relations with Communist China," he said.

Rusk disagreed with Sen. J. W. Fulbright's view that American forces in Viet Nam have turned Saigon into a brothel. Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, expressed this view in a speech last Thursday night.

"It just isn't true," said Rusk. He said Fulbright's allegations reflect "unfairly and inaccurately on what our men are doing over there."
